KOY by Brandholder Inc.: Korean premium skincare with protein-based SOLID care, nature-inspired FLOW care and BLOOM glow care

Supplier profile

About the company

KOY is a premium skincare brand of Brandholder Inc., a Korean company. The brand is built around the idea “True Beauty comes from Rest”: according to its official materials, KOY was created to offer a moment of self-care and rest in everyday life.

The range is organised into three lines. SOLID focuses on protein-based firming and nourishing care, FLOW on nature-inspired care for elasticity, soothing, pores and hydration, and BLOOM on radiance, sun care, cleansing and glow makeup.

According to the company’s brand catalogue, KOY is sold in Korea through its official online store, Olive Young stores, Hyundai Department Store and TV home shopping. The brand runs official websites in Korean, English and Japanese. This is the company’s own description; Teranova has not independently verified it.

- Sold at Olive Young and Hyundai Department Store in Korea (company data)
- Official websites in Korean, English and Japanese

Product range

SOLID

Protein-infused volume care. According to the company, formulas built on protein complexes for firmness, density and nourishment: cleanser, toner, ampoules, cream, mist, sheet mask, sun cream and cushion.

FLOW

Care inspired by nature. The company describes four solutions: Lifting for elasticity, Relief for soothing and tone, Soft for pores and texture, and Intensive for hydration.

BLOOM

Radiance and glow care. According to the company: lotion toner, essence sun cream, deep cleansing oil, cushion, glow stick highlighter and tinted lip balm.

Technology

Protein complexes

According to the company, the SOLID line is built on protein complexes; in the Solid Volume Ampoule, for example, hydrolysed rice protein water replaces purified water.

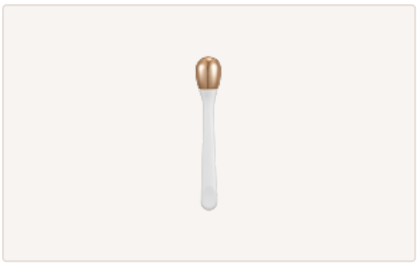

Rest as the brand idea

The brand calls its approach “unaging”: beauty that does not fight time, with care framed as moments of rest — Refresh, Recharge, Recovery.
