V-SANG BETA-G

Korean professional skincare brand born in an aesthetic spa

ACFIT and its V-SANG BETA-G line: care built around cooling, the skin barrier and microbiome balance, for treatment rooms and home care

Supplier profile

About the company

According to its own presentation, ACFIT is a professional skincare brand that originated at V-Medi Spa, an aesthetic centre in Bupyeong, Incheon. The company says its products were developed and refined in day-to-day spa practice before being offered to other professionals.

ACFIT describes its approach in three steps: cool the skin, restore the skin barrier, balance the microbiome. The name of the signature V-SANG line comes from the Korean word 비상 (bisang, “emergency”); “Beta-G” stands for β-glucan, which the company names as a shared ingredient of its core formulas.

The company states that ACFIT is used at about 250 aesthetic and skincare centres in Korea and that the current range has 14 products: 3 for professional use only and 11 for both treatments and home care. These are the company’s own figures; Teranova has not verified them independently.

- Origin: V-Medi Spa, Incheon — per the company, the salon has 27 years of practice
- Founder and CEO of V-Medi Spa: Hyun-joo Lee
- The brand is used by about 250 aesthetic and dermatology centers in Korea
- 14 products in the V-SANG BETA-G line: 3 professional-only, 11 for treatments and home care
- CPNP · SCPN · MoCRA — confirmed for 13 of the 14 products; ACFIT Beta-G Lacto Sun Cream certification is in process
