Who we are

Teranova Group is a trade platform registered in Korea. The legal entity behind it is AIA Group Ltd.; the founder is Anton Madelkanov. We work on the buyer's side: a partner brings us a requirement, we find the manufacturer who genuinely fits it, and then carry the deal through — negotiation, documents, logistics, customs clearance and translation.

We hold no stock and we do not resell. We are paid a commission on a completed deal, which is why we have no reason to push one manufacturer over another. It also means we say plainly when a requirement does not fit what a manufacturer actually makes.

Today 14 manufacturers are published on the platform — 13 of them in Korea. Each has a company profile and product pages in eleven languages, built from the materials the manufacturer provided and published only with written consent.

Registered in Korea

No stock, no resale

Paid on a completed deal

Eleven languages

What a listing gives you

Publication is free for the manufacturer and creates no obligation on your side.

A profile in eleven languages

Company page and product pages in English, Korean, Chinese, Japanese, Russian, Spanish, Portuguese, German, French, Italian and Turkish. A buyer reads about you in their own language.

Documents built from your data

A terms sheet and a presentation, generated from the same data as the page, so a buyer can download them and circulate them internally.

Articles, not just a card

We write about the technology behind your products, so a buyer who has never heard of the brand understands what makes it different.

Your contacts stay closed

Direct contact details are not published. Enquiries come to us first, and we qualify them before they reach you.

Prices are published only when the manufacturer asks for it. By default the pages show “price on request”.

How we present a manufacturer

A buyer needs to know where a fact came from. We use exactly two statuses and never blur the line between them.

Verified — personal visit

The founder has been to the office or the plant, met management and taken photographs. The page carries the date and the photographs. A meeting at a trade show does not count as a visit.

Information provided by the company

The default. Everything on the page comes from the manufacturer's own materials, and the page says so plainly.

A visit is a documented fact about what we saw. Certificates and registrations are shown as stated by the company; copies are provided to a buyer at the deal stage.

How a deal runs

1. Enquiry

A buyer comes to us. We check the country, the channel, the volume and whether they are able to import the goods themselves.

2. A concrete request

We bring you a request with figures and terms, not a name. If an enquiry does not hold up, you never hear about it.

3. Introduction

When it becomes concrete, you and the buyer sit at the same table with us present — a call or a meeting. We do not hold information back.

4. Tripartite contract

Signed by the buyer, the manufacturer and Teranova. Payment for the goods goes to you directly. Our commission is a separate line in the same contract, which you sign and therefore see.

5. Execution

Logistics, documents, customs clearance and translation — the contract states which of these we take on for that particular deal.

What it costs you

Nothing to be listed, and nothing until a deal is done.

Publication and updates

Free. New products, certifications and company news are added to your profile as you send them.

Our commission

Paid on a completed deal and written into the tripartite contract. It is not a margin added to your price and not a hidden fee. The rate depends on the deal and is agreed before anything is signed.

What we take on

Stated per deal in the contract, because the scope changes from one deal to the next and we would rather write it down than leave it assumed.

Logistics and brokerage are quoted separately and shown in full on the invoice.

Markets, channels and categories

Markets

Channels

Categories

Passenger cars and their parts are outside our scope. We do not approach a market where you already have an official partner — tell us which territories are closed and they stay closed.

What we need to publish you

Five things, and none of them are documents you would hesitate to share at this stage.

Written consent

One line in an email confirming we may use your materials to present your company on the platform.

Catalogue and images

Product photographs and a catalogue. Product names and volumes as they appear on the label — we check the page against the label before publishing.

Certifications you hold

Which certifications and registrations, and which products and markets they cover. Copies are needed only at the deal stage.

Closed territories

Countries where you already have an exclusive or official partner, so we do not bring you a buyer you cannot serve.

Prices — optional

Send them if you want a buyer to see them. If you would rather not, the page shows “price on request” and nothing is published.

Ready to be published?

Reply to this letter or write to us. We prepare the profile from your materials, send you the live link, and change anything you ask the same day.
